this twenty sixth day of December A.D. one thousand, eight hundred & fifteen, & of the Independence of the United States the fortieth.

James Madison

By the President,

Jas Monroe Secy of State.

The parties being desirous of re-establishing Peace and Friendship between the United States and the said Tribe or Nation, and of being placed in all things and in every respect on the same footing upon which they stood before the War, have agreed to the following Articles:

Art: 1. Every injury or act of hostility by one or either of the contracting parties against the other, shall be mutually forgiven and forgot.

Art. II. There shall be perpetual Peace and Friendship between all the Citizens of the United States of America and all the individuals composing the said Pontawattone Tribe or Nation.

Art. III. The contracting Parties hereby agree, promise and bind themselves reciprocally to deliver up all the Prisoners now in their hands (by what means soever the same may have come into their possession) to the officer commanding at Fort Clarke on the Illinois River, as soon as it may be practicable.

Art. IV The Contracting parties in the Sincerity of mutual Friendship, recognise, reestablish and confirm all and every Treaty, Contract and Agreement heretofore concluded between the United States and the Poutawatamie Tribe a Nation.

In Witness of all and every thing herein determined between the United States of America and the said Poutawatamie Tribe of Indians residing on the River Illinois. We their undersigned Commissioners ^{for the said Tribe}, by virtue of our full powers, have signed this definitive Treaty, and have caused our Seals to be hereunto affixed.

Done at Portage des Sioux the Eighteenth Day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand Eight hundred and fifteen, and of the Independence of the United States the fortieth.
